MESSAGE FROM SIDHARTA AUCTIONEER

This year our Fine Art auction will be staged at the Tugu Kunstkring Paleis, the historical venue which introduced the residents of Jakarta (or Batavia as it was known at the time) to Modern Art, including to the works of Picasso, Chagall, Di Chirico, Kies van Dongen, and even Van Gogh, when the paint manufacturer P. A. Regnault showcased his prominent collection there between 1935 and 1939. It was also the place where as well as many Indonesian artists got the opportunity to stage their works through the Indische Bondscollectie exhibitions in the late 1930s.

Our auction this time features a large variety of art from a number of collections. In the first segment, we present you will the art collection of the late Thomas Freitag, a curator of art who relentlessly struggled to advance Balinese art, and introduce it globally. While many intriguing works can be found in the collection, most collectors would find the works by Nyoman Erawan (lot #044), Agung Mangu Putra (lot #040), Putu Sutawijaya (lots #038, 039, 041), and Nyoman Masriadi (lot #045) of particular interest.

The collection is followed almost immediately by an important pair of early paintings by Affandi, depicting Tjokorde Gde Raka Sukawati and his wife Vincent (lot #064), which was painted in the early 1940s. The painting is still done in a realist manner, but in the portrait of the lady, hints of Affandi's later artistic development, in which he painted using lines drawn directly from the paint tubes, can be seen. These two portraits, therefore have particular art historical importance.

A variety of Balinese art, from traditional to modern, follows.

Thereafter, a special painting by Sudjojono depicting a scene of Jakarta in the latter half of the 1960s is offered. Djakarta Pagi2 (lot #099), painted from the raised outdoor platform of the Sarinah building, this painting bears witness of the capital city's development. Building that once stood or still stand, and even the steel framed Wisma Nusantara which was still under construction at the time, can be seen. Interestingly, a figure that seems reminiscent of the painter also appears in the painting. It seems that the painter makes a cameo appearance in his own work, making the piece possess personal as well as historical meanings to the artist.

This year marks the centennial of Sudjojono's birth, and we are proud to present a number of works by the artist, including Untung Suropati (lot #108), Garapan Pagi (lot #152), Arya Penangsang (lot #153) and Landscape (lot #180), in this auction.

Marvelous paintings from the collection of an Indonesian collector residing in Europe highlights our sale. Although all five works of art are delightful, of special note are the paintings by Dullah (lot #122 - 123), Tarmizi (lots #124), and (lots #125). The painting by Harijadi, Di Front Mojokerto, featured as our catalog cover for this auction, is indeed an enigmatic piece suggesting the complexities of the Indonesian Revolutionary War (1945-49), in East Java.

In this auction we have numerous works by Amrus Natalsya, ranging from carved and painted wood "paintings", oil on canvases, and sculpture. Itji Tarmizi's full range of art works, from oil paintings to his embroidered quilts are also featured. However, our featured artist this time is the late Mara Karma, an artist and art critic who was an influential member of the Jakarta Arts Council. His paintings are featured as lots #134-139.

In this auction, as in our other Fine Art auctions, there is something for every art collector and enthusiast. Those who are like landscape paintings might enjoy the works by Sudjojono Abdullah (lots #130) and Hasim (lot #133), but find the paintings by Tarmizi (lot #124) and Wakidi (lot #132) especially compelling. Although not renditions of Indonesia, Le Mayeur's paintings Modern Art enthusiasts should take a closer look at the works by Jeiham (lot #225), Umi Dachlan (lot 189), and Mochtar Apin (lot #226). A number of Indonesian Contemporary Art works are also featured, including a painting by Semsar Siahaan (lot #213), whose works rarely if they have at all, appear in auction. Take note of Erianto's witty commentary on Contemporary Art collecting (lot #206).

We hope that as art enthusiasts and collectors, you will enjoy the variety of art works that we feature in this auction. It is certainly a good opportunity to acquire the works that best suit your tastes for your growing art collection. We hope that your collection continues to become increasingly filled with wonderful and meaningful works of art!

GUIDE FOR BIDDERS

Bidding at the Auction

The following pages are designed to give any prospective bidders useful information on how to bid and buy at Sidharta Auctioneer's Fine Art auction (the "Auction" or the "Sale").

I. BEFORE THE AUCTION

Estimates

The estimated price range of each lot, printed below the description of each lot, is intended solely to be a guide for prospective buyers. Any bid between the high and the low estimated price range would, in our opinion, offer a fair chance of success in the purchase of the lot. However, all lots, depending on the degree of competition, can realise prices either above or below the estimates. Estimates do not include the Buyer's Premium.

Reserves

The reserve is a confidential minimum price the seller is willing to accept in the sale of the lot. If the highest bid of the lot fails to reach the reserve, the lot will not be sold.

Pre-Auction Viewing/Condition of Lots

Prior to the Auction, viewings will be open to public and free of charge. The condition of each lot is described in the condition report which Sidharta Auctioneer prepared with reasonable effort and good professional manner. We strongly encourage interested buyers to request these condition reports and to examine the lots properly. The absence of reference to the condition of a lot in the catalog description does not imply that the lot is free from faults or imperfections.

2. THE AUCTION

Buyer's Terms

The Auction is governed by the Terms for Buyers and Sales Terms printed in this catalog. These Terms apply to all aspects of the relationship between Sidharta Auctioneer and actual and prospective bidders and buyers. Anyone considering bidding in the Auction should read and understand them carefully. They may be amended by way of notices posted in the saleroom or by way of announcement made by the auctioneer.

Bidding at the Auction

Registration is required for all bidders 30 minutes prior to the start of the Auction. The identity of bidders will be verified. Bids may be executed in person by the use of paddle or by telephone through Sidharta Auctioneer's staff during the Auction, or in writing prior to the Sale. The Auction speeds vary, but usually average between 50-60 lots per hour.

We reserve the right to refuse admission to the premises or participation in any auction and to reject any bid.

Consecutive and Responsive Bidding

The auctioneer may open the bidding on any lot by placing a bid on behalf of the seller. The auctioneer may further bid on behalf of the seller, by placing consecutive or responsive bids for a lot, up to amount of the reserve.

The lots are auctioned in consecutive numerical order with video image or any manner of display we consider appropriate. Bidding is done in Indonesian Rupiah in incremental price increase. The auctioneer accepts bids from those present in the saleroom, from telephone bidders, or by absentee bids left with us in advance of the Auction.

Bidding Increments

Bidding generally opens below the low estimates and progresses in the following increments:

Rp.	1.000.000,-	to	Rp.	3.000.000,-	by	Rp.	200.000,-

Rp.	1.000.000.000,-	and above: according to auctioneer's direction

The auctioneer may change the increments during the course of the Auction at his or her discretion.

Bidding in person

To bid in person at the Auction, registered bidders should collect their numbered paddle before the Auction begins. Proof of identity references and registration will be required to collect paddles.

The paddle is used to indicate your bids to the auctioneer during the Sale. Successful buyers of any lot should ensure that their paddle is visible to the auctioneer and that it is their number that is called out as the successful bidder. Should there be any doubts as to price or buyer, the bidder should draw the auctioneer's attention to it immediately. All lots sold will be invoiced to the name and address in which the paddle has been registered and cannot be transferred to other names and addresses.

Please do not mislay your paddle; in the event of loss please inform the sales clerk immediately. At the end of the Sale, please return your paddle to the registration desk.

Absentee Bids

Prospective buyers who are unable to attend the Auction can submit absentee bids using Written Bid form that can be found on page 156 of this catalog. This service is confidential and free of charge. Absentee Bids can be in the form of a Written Bid or Telephone Bid. The Absentee Bid type should be indicated on the form.

Absentee bids must be confirmed before the Sale by letter or fax. To ensure satisfactory service to bidders, please ensure that we receive your bids at least 24 hours before the Sale.

Fax number for bids is: +62 21 727 88 283

Written Bids

Prospective buyers who would like to entrust Sidharta Auctioneer to execute bids on their behalf can place a written bid ("Written Bid"). In the Written Bid form you MUST specify the lot number, the description of the item and the top limit. Unlimited or unspecified bids such as instructions to "buy" will not be accepted. Although the Top Limit is denoted, lots will always be bought as cheaply as is consistent with other bids and the reserves. In the case of identical bid limits, the earliest bid received will take precedence.

Bidding by Telephone

For prospective buyers who are unable to attend the Auction but would like to participate in the Auction remotely through the moderation of Sidharta Auctioneer's staff, it is possible to bid on the telephone on lots. As the number of telephone lines is limited, it is necessary to make arrangements for this service 24 hours before the sale. We also suggest that you still indicate a Top Limit maximum bid which we can execute on your behalf in case we are unable to reach you by the telephone. Bilingual staff is available to execute bids for you.

Successful Bids

The fall of the auctioneer's hammer indicates the final bid (the "Hammer Price"). The auctioneer's will call out and record the paddle number of the buyer. If your written bid is successful, you will be notified immediately after the Sale by post. Bidding may be reopened at the auctioneer's discretion.

Currency Conversion

Since bidding is carried out in Indonesian Rupiah, a currency converter may be operated, based on the most recently available rates of exchange quoted to us by Bank Indonesia applicable on the date of the Auction. However, please note that figures shown in foreign currencies are only approximates and do not represent exact exchange rates.

To the extent applicable, the sections under Guides for Bidders are deemed to be inserted into and be an inseparable part of these Terms for Buyers.

GENERAL

Seller's Agent

Unless otherwise stated, we will act as the seller's agent. The concluded sales contract is made between the seller and the buyer through Sidharta Auctioneer.

Buyer's Premium

A premium to the buyer on the final bid price of each lot will be charged at 22% of the Hammer Price ("Buyer's Premium").

Pre-Auction Viewing

When bidding, we assume that interested buyers have already read the condition reports and/or examined the lots and are aware of the current condition of the lot.

Property Sold As Is

All property is sold without any warranty or representation. We are not liable for any errors or omissions in the catalog. The available condition reports are mere statements of opinion and should not be relied on as statements of definitive facts. Descriptions of property are not warranties. All property is sold with all faults and imperfections and errors of description.

ON BIDDING

Absentee Bids

Absentee bids are written instructions from prospective buyers directing us to bid on their behalf up to a maximum amount specified for each lot.

Telephone Bids

Please confirm arrangement for this service with us at least 1 (one) day, 24 (twenty four) hours, before the Auction. Prospective buyers are encouraged to inform the maximum bid, in the event they are unable to reach us by telephone.

Successful Bids

The fall of the auctioneer's hammer indicates the final bid, upon which the sales contract between the seller and the buyer is deemed to be concluded.

Transfer of Risk and Title

Subject to the auctioneer's discretion, the highest bid accepted by the auctioneer will be the buyer and the striking of his hammer marks the acceptance of the highest bid and the conclusion of a contract for sale between the seller and the buyer. Risk and responsibility for the lot (but not its title) are transferred to the buyer at the expiration of seven calendar days from the date of the sale or on collection by the buyer if earlier. The buyer will acquire title to the lot when all amounts due to us are received in good cleared funds.

Bidding as Principal

A bidder accepts personal liability to pay the purchase price, including the buyer's premium and any taxes and/or all other charges/fees that may be applicable. In the event a bidder is acting on behalf of an identified third party principal, we will look to the principal for payment.

PAYMENT AND HANDLING

The Collection of art archivist, critic, and promotor Thomas U. Freitag

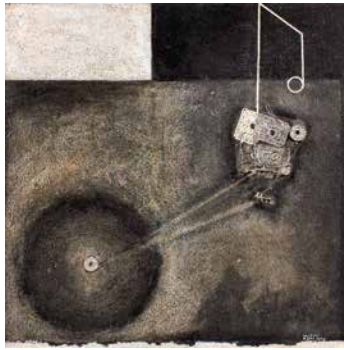

The passing of Thomas U. Freitag on May 3, 2013 in Denpasar, Bali marked the end of a remarkable life and personage. Curator, scholar, art critic, archivist, collector, restorer, publisher and master designer of exhibit installations, Thomas was a dynamic and seminal force on the Indonesian and Balinese contemporary art scene for more than 20 years.

Born in Germany on September 10, 1954, Thomas was the eldest son born into a cultivated family from Cologne. Born without a pancreas, his lifelong struggle with diabetes endowed him with resolute courage and the determination to excel in spite of this handicap. An artistic child, he was already an accomplished painter and dancer at the age of 15. He would attend university in Cologne during the 1970s where he studied to become a librarian, a discipline that taught him the importance of setting up archives.

Thomas was also strongly influenced by the powerful youth movements that changed his generation. Enamoured of the art and culture of foreign lands he would set up one of the first world art galleries in Cologne with his partner Sabina. An adventurer by nature he began travelling the world and first visited Bali and Indonesia in the late 1970s. His first passion was Indonesian tribal art and he would travel to remote destinations and accumulated a small but important collection of objects, which he occasionally sold to German collectors and museums.

At the end of the 1980s he went through a major change and decided to move to Bali for the rest of his life. Adopting the Balinese name of I Wayan Sukra (Sukra = Friday), he converted to Balinese Hinduism and settled in a Balinese community in Denpasar. Living off a small monthly stipend from the German government, he gave up business all together and dedicated himself selflessly to the support of the arts in Bali. He began by helping organize the Museum Ngurah Gede Pemecutan in Denpasar without any financial reimbursement. It was a habit that would continue for the rest of his life for Thomas never neither asked nor was he paid for his great contributions to Indonesian art over the years. His work at the museum culminated with an exhibition at the Frankfurt Ethnological Museum organized together with Achim Sibeth with whom he co-authored the catalogue who became a close friend and future collaborator.

After a brief stint of helping with Sembilan Gallery in Ubud, Thomas was invited by the brothers Ida Bagus Ngurah and Sidharta in 2003 to set up and curate exhibitions in a new gallery on the grounds of the Griya Santrian Hotel in Sanur. Every quarter he would present a new, always surprising, show based on an intriguing theme. His emphasis was always on young Indonesian artists and scholars for whom he was always a friend, mentor, guide and when needed an honest critic who worked hard to make them think globally. Thomas was the first to insist that a catalogue accompany every exhibition. His emphasis on documentation was legendary and ended up with a huge and well organized archive.

Many of the biggest names in Balinese and Indonesian art can be counted as his close friends including I Nyoman Masriadi, Putu Sutawijaya, Putu Wirantawan and Mangu Putra and a significant number of the works in this auction were given to him as gifts to thank him for his support and advice. Thomas also helped numerous projects and scholars gathering information and giving access to his archives. He was also a keen supporter of the traditional arts and played a major role in the research for Adrian Vickers' recent book on Balinese painting.

Survived by his beloved Balinese wife Ni Wayan Sulasih, whom he married in 2000 and their son Teja, the number of friends and artists who attended his memorial ceremony and cremation stand as testimony of his influence. A passionate collector, the paintings here were the heart of his private collection. All of them were in his eyes masterpieces that illustrated one of the most remarkable periods in the history of Indonesian art. Before passing away Thomas personally choose Sidharta Auctioneer to auction his beloved collection for the benefit of his wife and son. In his eyes works of art are like children. They are close to us and stay with us but eventual travel on to new lives of their own. It is our wish that these travel on to new homes where they can be loved as Thomas loved them.

Thomas U. Freitag's Legacy

Thomas Freitag was an eccentric, as everyone who had met him will tell you. One of his great eccentricities was his commitment to advancing Indonesian Contemporary Art, and Indonesian art in general, in a context where there is no public support for such art, and the private sphere is dominated by market pressures. The legacy of his abbreviated life is his contribution to work of artists, and to explaining their work to the world.

I first became aware of Thomas in 1999 when he, working with Achim Sibeth, produced the catalogue of paintings from the Museum Ngurah Gede Pemecutan for the Museum für Volkerkunde, Frankfurt. This was the first catalogue to bring international attention to younger contemporary artists, notably I Made Supena, I Ketut Susena and Made Mahendra Mangku, whose work Thomas also collected for himself. The catalogue linked Balinese artists working in the Ubud style pioneered by the 1930s association Pita Maha; with that of artists who continued the 'Beautiful Indies' style of the colonial era, such as Sudiro; and modern and contemporary Indonesian artists, notably Nyoman Tusan, the pioneer of semiabstract art with mystical Balinese themes; and Made Budhiana, who inspired younger Balinese artists to work in abstract art. Sudiro's "Temple" from that catalogue became part of Thomas' collection, and is included in this sale, as are other works by the leading artists trained in Yogyakarta in the 1970s and 1980s, including Nyoman Erawan, and paintings by Supena, Susena and Mahendra Mangku.

I did not meet Thomas in person until some five years later, when he asked me to write a contribution to the catalogue of an exhibition by Jango Pramatha of his cartoons. It was here that I learned of what Thomas' extraordinary project of curating exciting exhibitions for the Griya Santrian Gallery in Sanur. The Gallery wisely gave Thomas the opportunity to further his work with new and established artists based in Bali, and to expand the understanding of the Indonesian art scene. There were some precedents for showcasing modern and contemporary art in Bali: before the Pamecutan Gallery and the Tanjung Sari Hotel's experimental Nata Ayu Gallery of the early 1990s. Nata Ayu's curator, Ambar Arini, then went on to found the important Ganesha Gallery at the Four Seasons Hotel, under the guidance of Bruce Carpenter. It was Ganesha Gallery that held the first retrospective on a solo Balinese artist, with its Ida Bagus Nyoman Rai exhibition, and this important move was one of a number of initiatives that showed Thomas what could be achieved. In the late 1990s the Sika Gallery became Ubud's first Contemporary Art showcase.

At Griya Santrian Gallery, Thomas wanted to bring a broader art historical understanding to the presentation of Indonesian art. He always emphasized the importance of the collective nature of Balinese art, and one of his first Griya Santrian Gallery exhibitions in 2003 was of the group Galang Kangin. Soon afterwards he put together an exhibition of Sanur painting, demonstrating how modern and contemporary artist were interrelated with the almost-forgotten Sanur School of the 1930s. His catalogue essays and other unpublished analysis, written under his Balinese name of Wayan Sukra, linked Contemporary forms to the deep cultural roots of Indonesian art, and showed how Indonesian artists fitted into the global art scene.

Thomas and I worked together closely on a number of those projects, aimed at connecting Balinese art history to the Contemporary. The high points of our collaboration were the I Nyoman Mandra retrospective of 2009, and his support in my research project on Balinese art, without which my book Balinese Art: Paintings and Drawings of Bali 1800-2010, could not have been written. The Nyoman Mandra exhibition was taken up by Sangkring Gallery in Yogyakarta, whose owner Balinese-born Contemporary artist Putu Sutawijaya, reinforced the link between Mandra's Classic Kamasan style and the roots of Modern and Contemporary art from Bali.

Such exhibitions were part of Thomas' engagement with a more rigorous understanding of Indonesian art, which led him into debates with leading art critics, and an insistence on resisting the urge to mass produce low-quality art to satisfy the demands of the growing market. The artists with whom he worked recognised and responded to that disciplined approach, and have paid tribute to his importance.

Early works by Affandi: Portraits of Tjokorde Gede Raka Soekawati and his wife Vincent Soekawati

These two paintings have historical significance to Indonesia as they are portraits of Tjokorde Gede Raka Soekawati (who later became the President of the State of East Indonesia from 1946 to 1950) and his wife Vincent Soekawati who was a French national and later became an Indonesian citizen.

Affandi's later style is known for its expressionist work using vibrant networks of lines to communicate his emotion. However, these two works, created in the 1940s, are part of his collection of realistic paintings from his early career before his style evolved into the more expressionistic works he is more widely known for. For this reason, coupled with their historical significance, these paintings by Affandi would be a rare addition to any important art collection.

At the time these paintings were completed Affandi was known to paint in a realist style. While in the painting of Tjokorda he closely adhered to realism, the painting of Vincent Soekawati shows evidence of the painter's use of loose rhythmic brush strokes as well as an early stage of his signature technique of directly squeezing the paints directly from their tubes to the canvas instead of his palette. The contrasting, though still complimentary use of colours in the two paintings further demonstrate his different approach to the two subjects. In Tjokorda's more formal portrait the colours used evoke power and stature in accordance to the position the sitter held, strong reds and blacks, while in his wife's portrait the cool colours of pale blue, green and white evoke delicacy and femininity. However even then his loose brushwork was already evident in some of his more informal pieces.

Djakarta Pagi - Pagi by S. Sudjojono

Entitled Jakarta in The Early Morning, this painting shows a scene of what Jakarta's main boulevard, currently known as Jl. M. H. Thamrin looked like in 1967, as seen from the raised platform of the Sarinah Building, looking south. From north to south, the buildings on the west side of the boulevard: the East German Embassy, the Japanese Embassy, Hotel Ashoka and Hotel Indonesia can be seen quite distinctly depicted. On the east side of the boulevard, the buildings are less visible, but clearly the steel framed Wisma Nusantara which had been under construction since 1964, towers the landscape.

In the background, the mountain range of Mount Gede and Pangrango is also visible on clear days during that time, when Jakarta's traffic was still at its infant beginnings, so to say. The painting also shows how the traffic was during that time: north-bound traffic on Jl. Thamrin was quite heavy, as the old town was still very much the center of business in those days. Traffic south bound on the boulevard is significantly much more quiet. We can see a becak and a bemo on Jl. Sunda off the main boulevard.

While this painting is a tremendously intriguing testimony of what Jakarta was like in the 1960s, it is also a kind of self portrait. A figure of a man that is seated on the left side of the canvas, watching over a small child, is most certainly the painter himself in a cameo appearance. Indeed, Sudjojono often brought his family to enjoy Sarinah, which was at the time the most prominent department store in the city, particularly to be able to enjoy the views of their developing hometown from the building's open air raised platform.

Untung Suropati as interpreted by Sudjojono

This is S. Sudjojono's interpretation of Untung Suropati, an historical character who happened to be honored as an Indonesian national hero in 1975. It seems that the character might have caught Sudjojono's attention when he was doing research for the large mural about Sultan Agung's 1628-29 unsuccessful siege of Batavia (completed 1974), displayed at the Jakarta History Museum on Taman Fatahilah.

According to the epic Babad Tanah Jawi, Untung Suropati was a slave who originated from Bali. A Dutch officer by the name of Moor attributed the rise his career and the increase of his wealth to his acquisition of his new slave, and decided to call him "Untung" (which means "fortune").

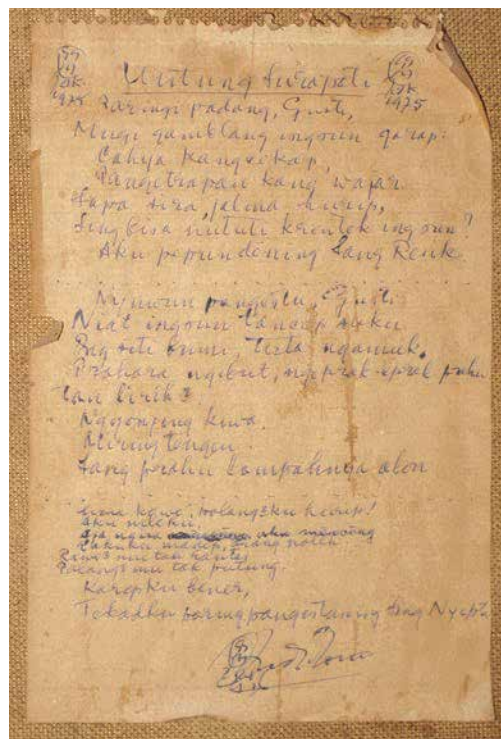

Later, when he found out that Untung and his daughter Suzanne were getting involved deeper and deeper in a love affair, he decided to imprison him. However Untung gathered his prison mates and managed to escape from prison and became fugitives.

Untung eventually acquired the name Surapati from the Sultan of Cirebon. He went on to Kartasura, where he was kept under the aegis of Sultan Amangkurat II. Untung Surapati was best known for killing Captain Tack, a Dutch officer who was sent to Kartasura to capture him, in 1686.

Untung Surapati went on to become the ruler of Pasuruan, still under the auspices of Sultan Amangkurat II. Following the Sultan's death in 1703, his successor Amangkurat III came in conflict with Pangeran Puger (a son of Amangkurat I) and fled to Pasuruan. When the Dutch forces launched an attack on Pasuruan in 1706, Surapati retreated to Bangil, where he was killed. Amangkurat III continued to fight the Dutch with Surapati's sons until their surrender in 1708.

A piece of paper with Sudjojono's text is affixed to the reverse of the canvas. The text seems to be a kind of evocation to The Almighty, so that he will remain on track in pursuit of truth. He uses the metaphor of a journey on a boat or ship through rough waters to portray life. In the painting, Untung Suropati is depicted as if he were on a boat together with his love Suzanne.

It seems clear that Sudjojono identified himself with Untung Suropati, who like him, fell in love with a European woman. Be that as it may, Untung Suropati continued to fight against the colonialists in pursuit of freedom, and it is apparent that Sudjojono intended to follow this example.

Being Inspired by Aki

My imagination about Aki (that is how I called my grandfather, Mara Karma, following the customs of Banten, from where his wife originated). is dominated with my childhood memories, especially around his painting studio and work desk. Yes, that is where I always see Aki spending time; if not painting, he would be typing, two activities that become an intimate part of my life, and eventually led me to choose to become a writer.

Mara Karma was born in Bukittinggi, West Sumatra, 1926, and completed his education at the Indonesisch Nederlandsche School (INS) Kayutanam. Apart from being a painter, there is another of Aki's accomplishments that kept me in awe: following Indonesia's Independence, when he was just a young man at the tender age of 19, he drove the masses to fly the Indonesian flag in Bukittinggi, which at the time was still occupied by the Japanese military.

After Independence and the Revolutionary War, together with Mochtar Lubis (whom he met at the INS at Kayutanam), in 1950 he established the magazine Mutiara. Later they also established the Indonesia Raya daily. The sharp criticisms of Soekarno's "Old Order", launched by the daily, led to its banning and eventual shut down.

Along with the emergence of the New Order, Aki briefly joined the Abadi and Pelopop Baru dailies, and then joined the Angkatan Bersenjata (Armed Forces) daily from 1971 to 1974. During this time he became closely acquainted with the playwright Arifin C. Noer and the poet Taufiq Ismail.

Later on Aki became a member of the Jakarta Arts Council. Around 1995, he was sent to New York and Mexico City as an envoy of the Department of Education and Culture in conjunction with the execution of the Contemporary Art Exhibition of Non-Aligned Countries in Jakarta. He also became the head of the Himpunan Pelukis Jakarta (HIPTA - Jakarta Artists Association). Even though he was better known as a writer and journalist, he continued to place great attention to art, particularly painting.

I was introduced to the culture and wisdom of the Minangkabau from Aki's paintings. They expressed his love for his homeland as well as his attention toward the development and transformation of this nation and her peoples. The painting that is most vividly recorded in my memory was a panorama of Ngarai Sianok, because one day, after Aki applied the first layer of his oil paints and let it dry, I added some new strokes of various colors of paint on the canvas which was still wet. Of course I got scolded for this, but later I was given my own canvas and paint brushes.

One day I asked Aki why he liked to paint. He answered that it was because he liked to tell stories. His answer got me confused; why through painting? According to Aki, telling stories can be conveyed through words as well as through pictures, and he chose to do both.

Every day, every week, there would be a different painting shown in Aki's studio. There would be new ones in the form of a charcoal sketch, half completed paintings, as well as those that are marked "sold". What was common and typical in all was that his impressionist painting strokes presented his "raw honesty".

"Create something from the heart," he said. That was his final message that remains ingrained in my memory. Now I can conclude that something that is initiated with a kind intention and a true heart, will also yield distinct results, not only when creating a work of art or literature, but also when we do simple things in our daily life.

Thank you for the inheritance that is not only full of beauty but also of meaning, Aki.
